ALISSA BAKER-CHAULK

York University – Bachelor, Kinesiology

I am a first year health science student at York University in Toronto, Ontario. I graduated from Richview Collegiate Institute in June 2016 and I plan on pursuing a career in the medical field. In my spare time I volunteer at St. Joseph's Health Centre in the Just for Kids Clinic in order to give back to my community. I also love reading, traveling, and spending time with my family.

SARA HAIDEY

University of Calgary –
Bachelor, Urban Studies

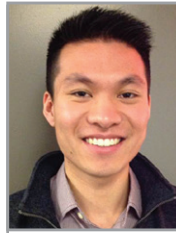

Sara is a second year urban studies student at the University of Calgary. She's interested in pursuing an architecture minor this upcoming semester. Sara is currently a swim instructor with the City of Calgary and is involved in the Urban Calgary Student's Association as VP Finance and Operations. In her spare time, Sara enjoys swimming, yoga, travelling, and drawing.

DREW HARKNESS

Simon Fraser University –
Bachelor, Communications

Drew is entering her third year of studies in Communications at Simon Fraser University in British Columbia. Drew is very interested in the political and social marketing aspects of Communications and intends to pursue a career in one of these fields. Apart from her studies, Drew is heavily involved in equestrian show jumping and enjoys competing in equestrian tournaments in the lower mainland of BC and across Canada. On account of her passion for animals, Drew also volunteers at local animal shelters by raising orphan kittens.

ROBERT LEW

University of British Columbia –
Bachelor, Civil Engineering

Robert is going into his fourth year of Civil Engineering at the University of British Columbia. When he graduates next year, he plans to pursue a career in transportation engineering and urban infrastructure. This past year, Robert went to compete in Ottawa as part of UBC's Concrete Toboggan Team. He was Team Lead for the Technical Exhibition and helped UBC to a second place finish. In his spare time, he is actively involved in team sports including ice hockey and volleyball. He also enjoys playing guitar, hiking and snowboarding.

SARA MALTESE

University of Toronto –
Bachelor, Civil Engineering

Sara is a fourth year undergraduate student studying Civil Engineering at the University of Toronto. She is very interested in gender equality and eliminating social barriers that have an effect on the academic and career decisions made by women. As a result, Sara has been involved with the Women in Science and Engineering team since her first year, educating high school students about the various opportunities in science and engineering fields through engaging presentations, events, competitions, and mentorship opportunities. Sara aspires to contribute to the development of municipal infrastructure projects and to play a role in our society's growth.

MARK PERARA

University of Toronto –
Bachelor, Computer Engineering

Mark graduated Sir Winston Churchill High school in 2016. Having a lifelong passion in Computing Mark applied and was accepted to the Computer Engineering program at the University of Toronto and starts his studies at the University this September with the intent of earning an engineering degree. Over the past three years Mark has been involved in Football, Rugby and Wrestling, winning a city championship title in wrestling in 2014. Outside of athletics Mark is a gamer, and a music and movie love, spending time playing action and adventure games and enjoying Hip Hop music.

NICHOLAS THIBODEAU

University of New Brunswick –
Bachelor, Engineering

Nick graduated from Harrison Trimble High school this past year in the Honours society (students must maintain over 85% average throughout their high school career). He will be furthering his education at the University of New Brunswick as an engineering student and will decide the branch of engineering after expanding his knowledge of the different fields of study. Nick is passionate about swimming, whether it be coaching young swimmers the fundamentals of the sport or training as a competitive athlete.

BROCK UHRYNIUK

University of Manitoba – Bachelor, Engineering

Brock recently graduated from Garden City Collegiate (Winnipeg) with honors, while obtaining his French Immersion diploma. Brock will be entering the University of Manitoba as an engineering student in the fall of 2016. He plans to focus on mechanical engineering. Brock has played competitive hockey since a young age and was the assistant captain of his high school hockey team; he also enjoys golfing and travelling with friends and family.

MICHELLE ZYMA

University of Toronto – Bachelor,
International Development Studies

Michelle has recently graduated with honors from Assumption College School in Brantford, Ontario and is now going into her second year at the University of Toronto. Michelle continues to volunteer within her community through working with organizations such as Frontier College where she works with youth in women's shelters. Since Michelle took part in a youth mission trip to Rajasthan, India, she has indulged her mind by taking classes and attending lectures on gender roles in development, the global movement against climate change and community development. She looks forward to going on her co-op placement with an international development agency in her fourth year to put her new knowledge into practice and take the opportunity to experience and learn as much as she can.■

The Canadian Parking Association hosts fundraising events throughout the year to raise funds for the scholarship program.

Thank you for supporting this program through participation at these events.
