The CPA does not acknowledge third-party organizations who solicit on behalf of the association. This includes housing/accommodation, attendee lists, or any other conference-related services. Access to exclusively approved contractors is provided by the CPA to all prospective and registered attendees.

A NOTE ABOUT SUITCASING

For those unfamiliar with the term, suitcasing refers to non-exhibitors who go to a show as an attendee, but pass out information, samples, etc. about their business from a suitcase, literally or figuratively. But what it represents is theft from show management, exhibitors, and even attendees. Suitcasers didn't pay to exhibit, and yet they're enjoying access to attendees just the same as legitimate exhibitors.

The Canadian Parking Association endeavors to provide a fair and equitable platform for all attendees to conduct business, and to deliver value to all who attend. The practice of Suitcasing at a trade show is not new, however in the past few years, it has seen a significant increase. To mitigate the damage and losses that occur as a result of this practice, the CPA has introduced stricter rules to curtail these activities on the trade show floor. Vendor companies will be monitored at the Registration stage and advised of their options for registration. Violators will forfeit their name badge and be removed from the event.
